

ANNUAL REPORT 2022-2023

MESSAGE FROM OUR BOARD CHAIR

As I reflect on this past year, my first thought is the amazing people who make The Lending Cupboard™ the uniquely special organization it is. Our generous donors, dedicated staff, and tireless volunteers, we are so fortunate to have such enthusiastic, creative, giving people and organizations supporting us.

With such a large geographical area to serve, an exciting highlight was the purchase of a new van for deliveries and equipment pick-up. The ability to go that extra mile (literally!) for clients and make each step of their dealings with us easier is what we strive for. Thanks to our van sponsors and Lacombe Ford for the generous sponsorship of our previous van lease – we are so grateful!

This past year has been one of enormous work that likely is not seen by outside parties. We have been working hard developing and improving policies and procedures, undergoing training, and connecting with the community. With our new Executive Director, Lori Shatto, taking a solid hand at the helm, there have been many internal changes like assessments and updates of processes and visible changes such as updating physical spaces within the Cupboard, making it more open and accessible. Lori has done a phenomenal job in the year since she started, leading our team with vision and thoughtful change.

The upcoming year looks bright, with promise. With strong partnerships, a top-notch team, new events and old favourites, we are well-positioned to provide the best service possible to our clients, and we look forward to serving our community.

If you are reading this, my thanks go to you for your support and interest in The Lending Cupboard™.

With gratitude,
Amanda Blair

MESSAGE FROM OUR EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

It is my pleasure to present to you our annual report for the past year. We have seen tremendous growth and progress, and I could not be more proud of our team and our impact on the lives of those we serve.

Over the past year, we have provided medical equipment and daily living aids to hundreds of individuals, allowing them to live more comfortably and with greater independence. Later in this report, you will see that we served over 13,000 clients and processed over 34,000 pieces of equipment. We know the need for our services is great and we are so grateful to be here serving our communities within Central Alberta.

03 | Annual Report 2022-2023

We have also developed new partnerships and strengthened existing ones within the community. These collaborations have allowed us to better serve our clients and provide even more resources and support. None of this would have been possible without the dedication and hard work of our Board of Directors, staff, and volunteers, who go above and beyond every day to make a difference in the lives of others. I am grateful for their commitment and passion.

As we look to the future, we are excited to continue learning and developing new and exciting ways to meet our clients needs. To provide even more support. Thank you for your ongoing support and partnership in this important work. We are very grateful to have you on this journey with us.

With sincere gratitude,
Lori Shatto, CFRE

DEPARTING BOARD MEMBER JESSICA MARION

We greatly appreciate Jessica Marion, our long-standing board member for her dedicated years of service to The Lending Cupboard™. She has been an integral board member for the past six years, serving as our treasurer for all of that time.

Her tireless efforts have helped us achieve numerous milestones and provided vital support to those in our communities seeking the support of The Lending Cupboard™. We are truly grateful for her commitment and invaluable contributions to our organization. Jessica's dedication and tireless efforts have been an inspiration to all of us, and we look forward to continuing to work together in the future.

Our board chair, Amanda Blair remembers the beginning days of Jessica's involvement with TLC's board. "Jessica and I started on the board together six years ago. From day one, she threw herself into the treasurer role – making herself available for any accounting-related questions, to sign cheques, or to share her ideas. She has always made time, even in the busiest of tax seasons. We are so grateful for all her contributions; she will be greatly missed."

On behalf of the board of directors, staff and volunteers, Thank you, Jessica, for your outstanding service to The Lending Cupboard™!

CONNECTING THROUGH COMMUNITY SERVICE

A supportive community is essential to a successful not-for-profit, and one of the ways that this assistance shines brightest is through local service organizations. For The Lending Cupboard™, the Rotary Club of Red Deer East has been one of those consistent sources of support over the years. A few weeks ago, club members joined several other local service organizations and cleaned TLC from top to bottom. It was all part of Community Service Week.

"It's a collaborative service week, so the Rotary Clubs join with Kinsmen, Kiwanis, Lions, and Optimists, and we pick five projects over five days," explained Sharon Moffat, co-president of Rotary Club of Red Deer East. "And then we all join together to do the projects. We are a service club, and this is what we do anyway, as our members want to volunteer," she said.

Volunteers pitched in for the project at TLC and, as mentioned, gave the facility a thorough cleaning. "TLC is a small organization as far as staff goes, and the facility hadn't had a deep cleaning since they've been there. So, we went in and moved all the equipment out of the way. We vacuumed, mopped all the floors, did the windows. There is so much equipment in there that it's not something you can do on a day-to-day basis," she explained. "It was a good day! We made quick work out of it with 15 people, too."

Moffat said other TLC initiatives the club has supported include selling programs at the annual CFR here in town. "Also, one of our past presidents was on the charter committee when The Lending Cupboard™ was born, so we have been there since the beginning. We also have members who volunteer at TLC, and we've donated before."

For Moffat, there's also a personal connection to TLC's mission. "I must tell you that my mom died of cancer a few years ago - we were in Ontario then." She recalls noticing how the community didn't have the unique services TLC offers. We had to find equipment to borrow for her, and we actually had to borrow it from the local hospice because there was no facility like this," she said.

"When I looked around TLC today, I was thinking how valuable it is. My mom needed a walker, a commode, and bed rails - she needed a lot of equipment in that last period of her life. So, I appreciate that we have this kind of service here, and I don't think people sometimes know what it is. But really, we are so lucky here in Red Deer that we don't have to try to figure out that part of the equation because you have enough to worry about when you are in those situations."

Meanwhile, Moffat said there are three Rotary Clubs in Red Deer, each of which has its own identity to a certain extent. "I think that our mission this year is to remind our members that Rotary is bigger than the room we have lunch in - an international organization with 1.2 million members. Our top priority is doing service in the community, and it's also about fellowship. Those things go hand in hand. "So, we consider a day like (our day at TLC) also to be the 'fellowship' part of it," she pointed out. "It's about throwing our jeans on, getting our rubber gloves, and heading to The Lending Cupboard™ to do service together. That's what drives our members - that kind of service and fellowship. It's awesome! It feels so good to do something like that," she said. "And they were just beaming because it was so nice and clean. They were so appreciative. We had some laughs, too. Several guys said I wasn't allowed to take pictures of them doing windows," she chuckled.

Ultimately, offering support across the city and beyond brings a sense of joy and fulfillment that is hard to describe. "It's a sincere, feel-good kind of thing. "I've also enjoyed our association with The Lending Cupboard™, and we will continue to work with them. When they need us, they can certainly call us, and we'll show up with our army!"

THE PROFOUND IMPACT OF TLC: KAROL LUCIANI'S STORY

Every non-profit needs a fantastic supporter like Karol Luciani.

For years now, the Red Deer resident has been enthusiastically cheering on the staff and volunteers at TLC, and it's a commitment born out of personal experience. On virtually every Facebook post, we can count on Karol to put an enthusiastic 'Thank you!' in the comments. He's also been a fabulous public advocate for TLC over the years. During a recent chat, he couldn't say it enough - The Lending Cupboard™ is an organization that has not only served as a profound source of help in his own life but also a unique and much-needed part of the community.

Several years ago, Karol's beloved wife, Wendy, bravely fought cancer, and during her illness, the couple borrowed equipment from TLC before her passing in August of 2017. Karol underwent hip surgery a few years before that, but an infection later set in. "It travelled to my spine, and it paralyzed me. I was in the hospital for 14 months. But I had needed some medical equipment before the operation, and in the ensuing weeks after the operation, we had to adjust, so we borrowed a number of different things."

Again, he recounts how helpful the TLC team was every step of the way. “All the people I have dealt with have been so kind,” he said. “I also know a number of people that have volunteered at The Lending Cupboard™, and everyone I have talked to, or anybody who has been associated with them, has been so happy with it,” he explained. “You receive a friendly greeting when you go in, and the people are so good at assessing what you need.”

Karol also pointed out that there is much more to medical equipment than folks may realize. “A lot of times, a person doesn’t even know what they are going to need. Most of these crisis situations happen so fast that you don’t know what to do. You can’t imagine what you will need when things like this arise. “I think everyone should just walk through there and look around - it’s phenomenal to see how much there is,” he said. “If a person had to go out and try to buy these things, I don’t know what would happen.”

Ultimately, Karol is an inspiring and resilient man - his positivity overflows and he holds firmly to an ‘attitude of gratitude.’ Much of that stems from his faith and also from his care and watchfulness over others, too. “If I hear of someone who has had some kind of a situation that has come about, I always suggest that they go to The Lending Cupboard™ because there are still a lot of people that might not know it’s there,” he said. “It’s an incredible service that allows people to have dignity, comfort, a faster healing process, and to be able to function in life. It goes far beyond the lending of equipment - it’s enhancing the quality of people’s lives,” he added. “I find them to be an incredible organization. I can’t imagine what would happen if people didn’t have TLC to use.”

UNCOVERING ACTS OF GENEROSITY

Robert Schwartz was the kind of person who had community spirit to spare.

Schwartz, who passed away on July 1 of this year, has been described as the kind of guy who would go out of his way to help others, and that help shone through in all kinds of ways. His sense of giving also significantly impacted The Lending Cupboard™ a few years back, as his good friend Robert Bonin recounted recently. "Rob was also my best friend's dad, and he was like a grandfather to my son," said Bonin.

Schwartz loved a good auction sale, where he could find all kinds of treasures to restore to excellent condition. One day, the two men happened upon an auction at Michener Centre. "We saw all of this medical equipment - wheelchairs, walkers, and canes," recalled Bonin. "We walked into this warehouse and saw hundreds of pieces of medical equipment that was to be (gotten rid of) or auctioned off." The guys decided to get in on the bidding. "Someone was bidding against us, so I walked over and asked what they planned on doing with it."

A woman explained that her husband was going to make some money by selling it. "I said, well, our plan is to buy it, re-build it all, and then donate it to The Lending Cupboard™," recalled Bonin with a smile. When she heard that, she quickly pulled her husband out of the bidding. "He waved to the auctioneer and said to pull his bid!" So, Schwartz and Bonin bought the whole lot. "There were probably 40 to 60 wheelchairs in total, and we ended up rebuilding between 30 to 35 of them," he explained. "And there were also between 40 to 50 really nice foldable walkers from the basic model all the way to the fancier ones." There were also about 50 canes that just needed minor repairs.

"We came to TLC, knocked on the back door, and said, "Where do you want all of this? They were just blown away," he laughed. It was typical of Schwartz to think about how to improve someone else's life. "Robert was one of the most intelligent builder-designer kind of guys you could ever meet," Bonin said of his friend. "If it could come apart, he could put it back together. And he was always out helping people. He would give the shirt off his back for a stranger," he added. "He was an incredible person. He was also one of those guys who did things like this behind the scenes and never took any credit for it."

Meanwhile, Bonin's son Leo recently suffered a knee injury, so TLC came to mind. "We walked in there, and one of the ladies said, 'You know, I think I remember that'" referring to that massive donation made by Bonin and Schwartz.

During the course of that recent visit, Bonin was also impressed with how the volunteers helped out Leo as he prepared for surgery. "They couldn't wait to help him. He got a wheelchair, a walker, and a cane." Leo agreed, reflecting on the support he received. "Several volunteers came up to help me, and they were amazing. It was quick; it was efficient. It was really nice to be there."

SUPPORTING OUR COMMUNITY

WELCOME TRACY, TLC'S NEW VOLUNTEER COORDINATOR

Tracy Scotvold knew from the moment she learned of the volunteer coordinator posting at The Lending Cupboard™ that she had found a dream position.

Fortunately, she landed the job a few months ago, and it's been an absolute joy settling into the busy routines at TLC. "My first experience with TLC was when a friend of mine was diagnosed with cancer last March," she explained. "Her son was a friend of mine, so we did many runs to The Lending Cupboard™ between us." During that time, as her friend's needs changed, so did the types of medical equipment she required, so it proved to be a learning process. Currently, Scotvold is also helping to care for her elderly parents, so the need for various pieces of equipment is growing.

With a personal knowledge of the profound differences that medical equipment can make in a person's life, the timing for the position couldn't have been better. "I remember when I saw the ad, I was very excited," she said, noting that she's long had a passion for community work, including working for Family Services and putting together life plans for adults with disabilities, among other ventures.

Her wellness journey has also given her a strong empathy for clients, as she has her battle with osteoarthritis. "You think about what you can do for quality of life," she said. "Again, when I saw the ad, I thought, this was so helpful for my friend. I came in, and it was just magical. It was like sitting down with two old friends," she recalled of the interview.

CALL FOR VOLUNTEERS

Are You The Next Volunteer?

Why volunteer?

"I love it here! It's the people, being able to do something for others. The gratitude that we get for helping them is amazing."

Edi

11 | Annual Report 2022-2023

From day one, it has indeed been a super fit. Scotvold said the position suits her because of its very social nature, and also, it's a role that ticks the 'love for helping others' box. "It's a well-rounded thing," she said. "I'm loving it here. I see how many people we help." She's also been deeply inspired by TLC's team of dedicated volunteers. She pointed out how many will take extra shifts above their own to help when needed. "We can always use more volunteers, but it does blow me away to see their dedication. Some have been doing it for ten years or more; it's phenomenal."

To those who are considering a volunteering stint in the community, Scotvold said that TLC is an ideal place to check out. "We've got treats," she said with a laugh. "Really, it's so rewarding. To come together as a common group that has a bigger vision - there's a satisfaction you get out of that. There are also volunteers here who have made life-long friends," she added. "If you are looking for something fun to do, that is meaningful to do, and if you are looking to give back and to help people in need, this is it. "I may be tired when I leave here, but I'm happy! Also, when I go home, I'm very thankful."

Ultimately, the knowledge of how much TLC helps clients provides Scotvold with a foundational sense of fulfillment. The needs are diverse, but time and again the right equipment is readily available. "It's absolutely at the heart of our community," she said. "We have things that can help daily to give quality of life."

SUPPORTING EVACUEES DURING A SUMMER OF FIRES

This summer was tough for many evacuated across Alberta due to the numerous forest fires that broke out over the summer. Having to leave everything behind, many evacuees fled their homes with just the clothing on their backs, leaving their medical equipment and other personal belongings behind. Wanting to lessen the impact that evacuees faced, TLC jumped into action by delivering equipment to evacuation centers and supporting evacuees who came to our office looking for much-needed medical equipment and daily living aids.

We are incredibly grateful that we were able to lend a helping hand during the unprecedented fire season.

CELEBRATING YEARS OF DEDICATION

The dedicated team of volunteers here at The Lending Cupboard™ deserve year-round expressions of congratulations, but we have a few that have stood out this year.

It's that time of year when we give special recognition via our long service awards, and quite a few are currently on that esteemed list. "Our volunteers here at TLC are the foundation of the vital service that we provide to our communities. I am most grateful for their dedication and compassion," says Lori Shatto, Executive Director.

Marking ten years of volunteer service with TLC are Kim, Gerry, and Kiffer. We are also so grateful for those who have served with us for five years, and this set includes Marlyne, Terry, Lorraine C., Steve, Lorraine W., Shirley, Deborah, Rita, and Matthew.

For Gerry, volunteering at TLC was a natural extension of his years in the workforce. "This is really what my background was when I was working in purchasing and in nursing," he noted. "One of my last hospital jobs was working with surplus equipment. I used to buy a lot of the equipment for patients, so this is a continuation of that," he said. As to being a part of our dedicated volunteering team, he said he just loves it. "I enjoy the company! You are here to help people - especially those who can't really afford to buy the equipment they need."

For her part, Kim said she enjoys the staff and the team here at TLC. "We are one big family," she said, adding she enjoys helping clients. "Just giving them the time to talk and ask any questions they may have about TLC". Kim said that over the past decade, she's seen the operation go from its former small headquarters on 43 Street to our current spacious location. "I didn't know about The Lending Cupboard™ until I had to bring some equipment back, and then I asked how to get involved," she recalled. "And here I am - still enjoying it!" As to other highlights of volunteering at TLC? "The baking! Did I tell you about the baking?" she added with a smile.

Gerry

Another volunteer, Marlyne, has been honoured in an additional way, and we wanted to spread the word. She has been volunteering at TLC for six years now, and there's plenty that fuels her inspiration. "I enjoy working with the clients that come through our doors. Basically, I feel also like it's an extension of my work life," she added, referring to her long career in the medical field. "The atmosphere is really good, too. "I also really enjoy the others I work with - they are just excellent people, and the staff are great, too." Marlyne also serves on TLC's fundraising committee. She enjoys the opportunities to connect with the public this particular role provides. "The people you meet are just wonderful. In just chatting with them about what we do - some of them are quite overwhelmed," she said.

Adding to this celebratory time is that Marlyne has also been honoured with an award from Alberta Blue Cross under the Community Wellbeing Grant Program. The program is a way to celebrate the province's exceptional volunteers who are making a significant difference in the health and wellness of Albertans. "Recognizing people in that way really stands out, a way of getting and acquiring new staff and volunteers," she said. "I was really taken aback by it!" Ultimately, it all goes back to her commitment to the TLC mission - a characteristic one will find in chatting with anyone from our volunteering team. "In my work there, I look at it with the same attitude I used to look at my job. If you are going to do it, do it to the best of your ability!"

"We really are a family here at TLC", says Shatto. "If anyone is looking to support their community, I would encourage them to come and check out the terrific atmosphere here at The Lending Cupboard™. You won't be disappointed."

Congratulations to all of our dedicated long-service award recipients.

FROM NURSING TO VOLUNTEERING: EDIE'S JOURNEY AT TLC

Tapping into an extensive skillset gained from a fulfilling nursing career, our new volunteer Edie has been enjoying her new post at The Lending Cupboard™. "I started this past July," she said, adding that she really wanted to do volunteer work based on the knowledge she had garnered from her years as an RN. "For the last ten years of my career, I also worked in homecare, so I'd be in people's homes and could get a sense of what worked and what didn't," she explained. "So that's really why I started at The Lending Cupboard™. In the past, I actually also had borrowed some things for my parents, so I knew of it. It's a wonderful place - I couldn't believe the amount of equipment here," she added.

Edie works at the front, meeting with clients to process the equipment that they are borrowing. Plus, she works directly with them to help select the ideal pieces of equipment that they require. From the start, she's been struck by the helpfulness of the team as a whole as she has been 'learning the ropes' of the range of duties that our hard-working volunteers take care of. "Some of the volunteers that have been there longer have been very resourceful and helpful - they are amazing," she noted. "I really enjoy working there - it's a happy time. I go in for one afternoon each week, and those hours go by pretty fast!"

Edie said TLC is a great place to start for those looking to volunteer locally. "It's filling a niche for me," she explained. "You are dealing with a segment of the population that, for the most part, is really grateful for what you are doing for them, so that is always a plus," she said, adding that folks are typically pretty relieved that they don't have to purchase the equipment that they may have trouble paying for. "I don't know how many times people have pulled out a debit card or cash to pay for something, and in turn, you say that if they would like to leave a donation, that would be fine," she said.

Ultimately, she circled back to TLC's happy atmosphere - making those volunteering hours even more enjoyable. "It's everything from just helping to put equipment away, to going to the back area, and the guys have some kind of funky music on - it's really cool!"
